- (b) non-discrimination;
- (c) full and effective participation and inclusion in society;
- (d) respect for difference and acceptance of persons with disabilities as part of human diversity and humanity;
- (e) equality of opportunity;
- (f) accessibility;
- (g) equality between men and women;

And whereas India is a signatory to the said Convention;

And whereas India ratified the said Convention on the 1st day of October, 2007;

And whereas it is considered necessary to implement the Convention aforesaid.

Be it enacted by Parliament in the Sixty-seventh Year of the Republic of India as follows—

Statement of Objects and Reasons.—The Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 was enacted to give effect to the Proclamation on the Full Participation and Equality of the People with Disabilities in the Asian and Pacific Region. The Act defines Persons with Disabilities as those having not less than forty per cent disability and identified seven categories of disabilities, namely, blindness, low vision, hearing impairment, locomotor disability, mental retardation, mental illness and leprosy-cured.

2. Over a period of time, the conceptual understanding of the rights of persons with disabilities has become more clear and there has been worldwide change in approach to handle the issues concerning persons with disabilities. The United Nations adopted its Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities laying down the principles to be followed by the States Parties for empowerment of persons with disabilities. India signed the said Convention and subsequently ratified the same on the 1st day of October, 2007. The Convention came into effect on the 3rd day of May, 2008. Being a signatory to the Convention, India has an international obligation to comply with the provisions of the said Convention which required an entirely new legislation.

3. In 2010, an Expert Committee constituted under the chairmanship of Dr. Sudha Kaul, Vice-Chairperson, Indian Institute of Cerebral Palsy, Kolkata submitted its report in 2011, suggesting a Draft Bill relating to the Rights of Persons with Disabilities. The draft Bill was extensively debated upon at various levels involving State Governments and Union territories and various stakeholders.

4. The salient features of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Bill, 2014, inter alia, are:

- (i) Nineteen specified disabilities have been defined;
- (ii) the persons with disabilities enjoy various rights such as right to equality, life with dignity, respect for his or her integrity, etc., equally with others;
- (iii) duties and responsibilities of the appropriate Government have been enumerated;
- (iv) all educational institutions funded by appropriate Government shall provide inclusive education to the children with disabilities;
- (v) a National Fund is proposed to provide financial support to persons with disabilities;
- (vi) stakeholders' participation in the policy making through Central and State Advisory Boards;
- (vii) increase in reservation in posts from existing three per cent to five per cent in the vacancies for persons or class of persons with benchmark disabilities in every establishment and reservation of seats for students with benchmark disabilities in higher educational institutions;
- (viii) setting up of National Commission and State Commission to act as Grievance Redressal Mechanism, monitor implementation of the proposed legislation replacing the Chief Commissioner and State Commissioners for persons with disabilities, respectively;
- (ix) guidelines to be issued by the Central Government for issuance of certificates of specified disabilities;
- (x) penalties for offences committed against persons with disabilities; and
- (xi) Court of Session to be designated as Special Court by the State Government in every district to try offences.

5. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.

► Object.—Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016 replaced the 1995

Act with effect from 19-4-2017. 2016 Act was enacted to give effect to the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. More rights have been conferred on the disabled persons and more categories have been added. Access to justice, free education, role of local authorities, National fund and the State fund for persons with disabilities have been created. 2016 Act is noticeably a sea change in the perception and requires a march forward look with regard to the persons with disabilities and the role of the States, local authorities, educational institutions and the companies, Justice Sunanda Bhandare Foundation v. Union of India, (2017) 14 SCC 1.

► Disabled and Differently-abled persons.—Meaning, causes and prevalence of colour vision deficiency (CVD), explained. Ishihara test to ascertain CVD, discussed, Pranay Kumar Podder v. State of Tripura, (2017) 13 SCC 351.

► "Person with disability".—A person in condition of "mental retardation" should ordinarily be treated differently from a "mentally ill" person. Condition of mental retardation or developmental delay can be gauged on basis of parameters such as intelligent quotient (IQ) and mental age (MA) which mostly relate to academic abilities, Eera v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2017) 15 SCC 133.

► Dilated Cardiomyopathy — Whether disability.—Dilated Cardiomyopathy condition neither specified disability nor relatable to broad spectrum of impairments, which hinders full and effective participation in society. Thus, Dilated Cardiomyopathy condition of a person does not bring his/her case either within ambit of 1995 Act or the 2016 Act, Nawal Kishore Sharma v. Union of India, (2021) 4 SCC 487.

► Reasonable accommodation.—Intrinsic to individual dignity is recognising worth of every person as equal member of society, respect for dignity of others and fostering conditions in which every individual can evolve according to his capacities. Principle of reasonable accommodation acknowledges that if disability as a social construct must be remedied, conditions must affirmatively be created for facilitating development of disabled i.e. it is founded in norm of inclusion. Reasonable accommodation determinations must be based on case-to-case basis in consultation with disabled person concerned, Vikash Kumar v. UPSC, (2021) 5 SCC 370.

► “Persons with benchmark disabilities” and “Persons with disabilities” — Difference.—Section 2(r) encompasses two categories : (i) person with not less 40% of specified disability, where specified disability is not defined in measurable terms; and (ii) person with disability where specified disability is defined in measurable terms. Section 2(s) on other hand deals with “persons with disability” and is phrased in broad terms to mean a person with long terms physical, mental, intellectual or sensory impairment which in interaction with various barriers hinders full and effective participation in society equally with others and is not tagged either with notion of specified disability or benchmark disability. Thus, Section 2(s) recognises that it is nature of impairment in its interaction with barriers that results in full and effective participation of disabled person in society being hampered. Further, concept of benchmark disability under Section 2(r) cannot be conflated with notion of disability under Section 2(s). Section 2(r) applies to “specified disability” as defined in Section 2(zc) to mean disabilities as defined in the Schedule. To deny rights and entitlements recognised for persons with disabilities on ground that they do not fulfil benchmark disability, ultra vires 2016 Act, Vikash Kumar v. UPSC, (2021) 5 SCC 370.

► Candidates with colour vision deficiency (CVD).—Total exclusion of CVD candidates for admission to medical courses without any stipulation in which areas they really can practise and render assistance would tantamount to regressive thinking. Court should have a broader outlook of international practice rather than being confined to resolution passed by general body of MCI, Pranay Kumar Podder v. State of Tripura, (2017) 13 SCC 351.

► Right to inclusive education.—The right to inclusive education is realised through the provision of reasonable accommodation. Reasonable accommodation is at the heart of the principle of equality and non-discrimination espoused under the RPwD Act, 2016. The denial of reasonable accommodation to a PwD amounts to discrimination, Avni Prakash v. National Testing Agency, (2023) 2 SCC 286, See also Parmod v. Union of India, (2019) 13 SCC 721
